There is one temple in Shen-si where the gods have a reputation for kindness and promptitude in answering prayers for min for more than a hundred years, a shower following on the Hanei:petition 'as quick as the sound upon the blow." Such very deserving deities, thinks the Governor of Shen ei, are certainly entitled to some reward from the Emperer, and His Majegty has patronisingly consented that a tablet may be erected to them in his name. The gods in question will no doubt feel duly flattered at this Imperial recogmition of their services, and it is to be hoped will continue as pliable in the hands of suppliants in future as they have been for so many arrive all at the same time at Hanoi, where they years .- N. The Singarore Daily Times says-Our private advices from Manila as to the Leon XIII case are to the following effect :- H.M.S. Swift was at Manila some days before the Fpanish steamer arrived. The Captain and the English Consul were closeted with the Captain General for whole day going through the case. The latter stated that he would order the release of the mon at once on the vessel's arrival, if the wift procooded to see and left the case in his hands; this was done, the men being delivered up to the Consul, who arranged for their passage to Hongkong, whence they will proceed home. The Captain of the Leon XIII. with the first and second officers, will be tried at Manila for their conduct in illegally detaining the mon. A court-martial will also be held on the first and second mates and the Captain of the Spanish man-of-war, who were instrumental in assisting them to poinmit a glaring breach of international law. The Spanish Consul at Singap re will probably be recalled. The Leon XIII. will be libelled on hor arrival at Liverpool and suit brought in the thme of the men for illegal detention and

A "curious" story, says the N. C. Daily News, is going the rounds of the settlement, which is not vero is at ally rate ben trovato. As every body knows, a large number of curies and articles and among these things appear to have been the Imperial Seals belonging to no lower than six Emperors. In any case, they were missing for many years, and the Chinese no doubt gave them up for lost. Some time ago; however, it was discovered that they had fallen into the hands o negotiations were immediately set on foot to get or to the sum offered for them by the Government. The amounts stated differ enormously, Mac Chang Hei, Vice President of the Board ranging in fact from lifteen to five hundred thousand toels. There can be no doubt, however that the Government would, in such a case, be extremely anxious to recover them, and that the fortunate possessor would be able to make a handsome fortune out of the bargain. We need senroely recommend our, local composseurs to 7th inst. hunt up all the seals, sunff-bottles, and tea-pots they may have in their possession, which look as time. There is no knowing what treasures they may have lying about, or what sums the dovernment might offer for their recovery.

We have frequently, says the N. C. Daily News, drawn attention to the abominations of Chinese criminal jurisprudence, but never, perhaps, have we been confronted with any case so flagrantly horrible as one new reported in the Peking Gazette. The story may be told in a few words. There was an old women who had a refractory son. High words were constantly arising between them, and on one occasion the some the old woman by the thront. Enraged beyond the street and insisted upon a certain sergeant, who was on duty, killing her undutiful child. The man refused, and it was only after much threatening and expostulation that he consented to carry the boy off and give him a beating. The mother discontentedly acquiesced; afterwards, however, fearing that her son would get off too easily, she started with a couple of friends to renew her entreaties to the sergeant, who then had the boy in his possession. At last ber clamours won the day, and the entire party set to work to bury him alive, the mother rendering active assistance. The wretched youth was seen pinioned, gagged, and buried under a heap of broken masonry, and thus suffocated in a few minutes. The case has now been brought before the Emperor. One man is sentenced to a hundred blows, which, however, will not be inflicted; two others, to ninety. The arch-criminal, the unnatural murderess, escapes scotfres; indeed ber action is rather approved than condemned Comment upon this hideous burlesque of justice would be out of place. And yet there are some persons of good moral character and average intelligence who point to the administration of the Chinese Government as a model of compassion equity, and paternal love. A son who kills his parent is sliced to death, even though he be a raving lunatic; a mother who buries her sea alive out of sheer wickedness and rage is publicly uphe'd, and the monstrous crime approved of by the Emperor.

BANGKOK. PROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

29th March, 1882. The cholera still continues its ravages among One of those recorded last week was a very sad ther amongst the Islanda, one, young Master Loftus. He was a bright, intelligent boy of about twelve years of are, a son of the King's Hydrographer, Captain Lioftus. now absent on the Telegraph Survey between this and French Coohin-China, The lad was taken ill at Ko-si-chan, where the family had gone to spend the hot season, and though medical aid was rendered as early as the distance from the city would allow, and the active disease subdued, be sank under the after effects and could not rally. In fact very few of the deaths among foreigners have resulted from the disease itself, most of them having occurred from the parelysis of

Arrived at 7 a.m. all well. Paknam, is to be the head. His Excellency is a very intelligent well-read Siamese gentleman. was educated in Singapore, and reads, writes, and apeaks the English language perfectly. He is one of the few noblemen who are not addicted to from there strong Northerly gale, high sea, the disgusting practice of betel chewing, and can and thick weather to port. Arrived at midshow a set of clean, white teeth when smiling. He night on the 6th. is a very handsome man, and though of dignified appearance can make himself very agreeable in social life. He is one of the principal members of the Roard of Education, and through not as finished a statesman or as desply read as Phya Bashkarawongsa, will do Sigm groat grodit abroad The report is now that the embassy, will proceed harbour at 5 a.m. on the 8th April, first to the United States, but reports in Bangkok are very unreliable.

His Majesty the King continues in very good health and spirits. Ha is busily engaged in prepuring for the Great Exposition which takes place on the 22nd of April, the Centennial Anniver-Bary of the founding of the City of Bangkok. The new palace is nearly completed and over 400 tons of furniture and fittings (exceeding balfa-million in value) have arrived by the Gordon Castle from London. No great harm was dons to the animal or the rider, but the Celestial among whose porcelain the spill culminated is said to have ejaculated "Hi vah!" several distinct times as he gazed on the wreck. Perhaps some sinclogists in your neighbourhood may be able to translate the interjection. He claimed damages for broach of the pieces, but was informed by an English law-posted brother that the Act of God, the firing of crackers, and the blowing of horns were always excepted.

If H.R.H. Kum-num Paherate would go one step further and make the busses contribute to the repair of the highway, which they cut up in a most villainous manner, he would be indeed deserving of proise as a vigilant magistrate.

LATE TELEGRAMS

The following telegrams are reproduced by the Strails Times from Australian papers :-LONDON, 27th February. certain facts which led to the discovery of quantity of arms and ammunition concealed in Dublin has been mardered. Mr. C. S. Parnell has been sentenced to week's solitary confinement in Kilmainham gaol, where he is now incarcerated; for attempting to bribe a warder of the gaol to transmit a letter. 28th February.

The Hon. Sanl Samuel, Agent General for New South Wales, presented to Her Majesty the Queon, lat Windsor Castle, yesterday, the handsomely bound and richly illuminated album: containing views of New South Wales scenery and drawings of the buildings of Sydusy, which was specially issued for the purpose from the Goverament Printing Office, Sydney. -A farmer and his sons, residing in County

Clare, Ireland, for having paid their rent, were attacked by 16 men in disguise. One of the sons Austria has strenthened the garrison on her

It has now been ascertained that M'Lean followed the occupation of a grocer's assistant. He has been examined, and declared to be same. Her Majesty, who was perfectly calm throughout the trying situation, tolegraphed a message to the Prince of Wales shortly after the attempt to the following effect:-"I am none the worse. Numerous demonstrations of sympathy have Prince Leopold and Princess Helen, of Waldeck Pyrmont, have returned to Windsor Castle. and offered their heartfelt congratulations at Her Majesty's escape.

The following additional particulars regarding the attempt to assassinate Her Majesty at Windsor, yesterday afternoon, are declared to be anthentic. After M'Lean fired his revolver, which possessed six chambers, he presented the weapon at Her Majesty a second time. At this moment some bystanders, attracted by the noise of the report, rushed forward and prevented him from firing a second shot, seized the weapon, and throw the would be assausin on the ground. The police with great difficulty prevented him from being lynched on the spot by those present, but he was ultimately rescued from their hands, and taken into oustody.

It has transpired that Roderick M'Lean, the would be assassin, is a Londoner by birth; that he is a clerk, who has been for some time pastout of employment. The general impression is that he is a lumatic, and the attempt which he made upon ! er Majesty's life is believed to be devoid of any political motive.

On leaving the scene of the attempt upon her life, the Queen at once proceeded to Windsor Castle. Her Majesty preserved a perfectly calm demonstruct throughout, and showed no signs of smotion. In the evening Her Majesty was present at the newal dinner party at the Castle, to which several distinguished guests were invited.

The attention of boxholders is called to the necessity of carefully sealing such hoxes with some recognisable seal, and of sending a chitbook or receipt with tham. The omission of the latter precaution leaves a doubt as to whe ther the contents of the box ever reached the Post Office: the omission of the former, as to whether part of them might not have been ab-atracted for the sake of the Postage Stamps. RATES OF POSTAGE.
